World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts (WAGGGS)

Worldwide Movement
The World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts (WAGGGS—www.wagggsworld.org/en/home) is comprised of 145 member organizations, including Girl Scouts of the USA. WAGGGS not only unites all of its member organizations, but promotes and establishes Girl Guiding/Girl Scouting organizations around the world. The goal of WAGGGS is to enable girls and young women to develop their fullest potential as responsible citizens of the world.

World Centers
The four world centers, Our Cabaña in Cuernavaca, Mexico; Our Chalet in Adelboden, Switzerland; Pax Lodge in London, England; and Sangam in Pune, India, are owned and operated by the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts (WAGGGS). Staffed by volunteers and paid international staff, the centers offer Girl Guides and Girl Scouts a comfortable, inexpensive, and safe place for short stays or long-term accommodations, seminars, trainings, and international events. Members of Girls Scouts of the USA and their families are encouraged to visit the centers, meet girls from other countries, and build lasting friendships.

Our Cabaña (www.ourcabana.org), located 47 miles from Mexico City, is a beautiful retreat located in historic Cuernavaca. Our Cabaña is the largest of the four world centers, can accommodate up to 90 guests, and offers five-, eight-, and nine-night sessions throughout the year to girl and adult members of WAGGGS and GSUSA, including Girl Friendship sessions and Adult Adventure programs.

Our Chalet (www.ourchalet.ch) was the first world center built by WAGGGS. Located in the picturesque Swiss Alps, Girl Scouts, Girl Guides and their families can explore the network of trails and footpaths that lead to snow-capped peaks, crystal-clear waters, alpine forests, and wild flower meadows. Our Chalet offers a wide array of programs from high-adventure activities such as skiing or hiking to leadership seminars.

Pax Lodge (paxlodge.wagggsworld.org), located in Hampstead Village, 20 minutes by subway from the center of London, is an ideal base for exploring the city’s rich history, tradition, and culture. This world center offers a vibrant selection of cultural programs for youth and adults as well as leadership seminars and day activities.

Sangam (www.sangamworldcentre.org), situated along the banks of the Mula River in Pune, India, is a few hours from Mumbai (Bombay). Sangam, which means “coming together” in Sanskrit, brings Girl Guides and Girl Scouts together from around the globe. Events, scheduled from June to March, emphasize cultural sharing, common Girl Guiding/Girl Scouting links, and the rich cultural heritage of India.

Dress
Girl Guides and Girl Scouts are expected to wear their official Girl Scout uniforms or camp uniforms when visiting the world centers.

Atmosphere
The informal atmosphere of the world centers encourages interaction among visitors who are expected to contribute to the daily operation of the facility. As space in these facilities is limited, visitors are asked to bring only essential items.

Gifts
Contact the center before your visit to find out what is needed to maintain operations, or contact the World Foundation (www.worldfoundationwagggs.org/), a private nonprofit that supports the world centers.

Visits
Contact the world centers directly to inquire about accommodations, programs, and events.

Volunteering

The World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts is the official umbrella organization for all national Girl Guide and Girl Scout organizations in the world. It consists of 145 member organizations, which are organized into five regions—Africa, Arab, Asia Pacific, Europe, and Western Hemisphere. Girl Scouts of the USA makes up about one-third of the total WAGGGS.
Here is a checklist of general indicators for leaders and girls to look for to determine group readiness for a trip. Group consultants and others who review the travel plans should also find the checklist useful. Program services personnel can use the checklist as they approve travel plans, evaluate trips, and make trip recommendations. The following statements show travel readiness:

1. The trip upholds Girl Scout policies and standards.
   • The trip meets all appropriate safety guidelines provided by your council and Volunteer Essentials.

2. There is communication with the council.
   • All appropriate permissions have been obtained from the council.
   • Adult volunteers and girls know and follow council policies on camps and overnight trips, including procedures for handling emergencies.
   • Council staff are informed of any changes in plans.

3. There is sound planning.
   • The trip has a clear purpose, formulated and understood by the girls and adults.
   • The trip is part of ongoing group activities, with all participants included in the planning steps.
   • Girls work successfully in groups and accept the responsibilities involved in the trip.
   • The proper number of adult chaperones who accept the responsibilities of the trip have been recruited.
   • Girls and their parents or guardians support the project wholeheartedly; parents or guardians understand all plans and have confidence in the leadership.
   • Girls and adults together make realistic, detailed plans well in advance.
   • Plans consider the special abilities and the religious and ethnic diversity of the participants and of those they will interact with during the trip.
   • Girls and adults learn in advance as much as possible about what they will be seeing and doing.
   • The group seeks council guidance and approval on the best means of transportation for the trip.

4. Travel arrangements are made in advance.
   • Time is provided for eating, sleeping, rest and relaxation, recreation, and personal needs.
   • Mileage to be covered each day is reasonable for the terrain expected.
   • Plans consider both drivers and passengers.
   • Reservations for overnight accommodations are confirmed in writing, and all stopping places are planned in advance. Sufficient space is reserved so that each girl has her own bed. If girls will be sharing beds, this should be clearly conveyed to the parent/guardians in the permission slip. Under no circumstances will a girl share a bed with an adult.
   • The entire itinerary is known to girls, adults, parents, the council, and the back-home emergency contact.

5. Business and money matters are worked out.
   • Girls and adults create a detailed, realistic budget, remembering to include such items as transportation, food, tips, insurance, recreation, admission fees, taxes, and emergency funds.
   • Money-earning projects are carried out with the permission of the council and in accordance with Girl Scout policies and Program Standards.
   • Personal and group expenses are defined. The amount of personal money needed and how those funds should be handled are determined in advance.
   • Group travel funds are kept in a bank account before the trip and carried securely during the trip.

6. Members take responsibility for personal conduct and equipment.
   - Girls and adults know what clothing and equipment to take and how to use and pack the equipment.
   - When the group travels in uniform, all travelers have a Girl Scout uniform. Girls and adults are expected to be in official uniform to represent Girl Scouts of the USA and respect the traditions of the Girl Guide and Girl Scout movements when traveling internationally to events and opportunities at world centers and other Girl Guide/Girl Scout international activities.
   - Girls understand their responsibilities as travelers. Everyone is briefed on appropriate conduct and safety precautions in public places, restrooms, escalators, and elevators, as well as on building stairs and selected forms of transportation.
   - Groups staying in hotels are prepared to take special precautions to protect their own safety and know what to do in case of fire.
   - Special equipment required, such as tents, bicycles, canoes, etc., is checked and ready well before the departure date.
   - Individual limits on luggage and equipment are set and adhered to. Each person is able to carry her own individually identified belongings except when a special consideration, such as a disability, warrants alternative plans. All valuables are left at home.

7. Everyone knows and observes good health and safety practices.
   - Volunteer Essentials is used when preparing for any trip. Girls and adults also consult council resources.
   - Required health examinations and immunizations are completed. Health records, medical waivers, necessary medications, eyeglass and contact lens prescriptions, and/or extra eyeglasses are taken along.
   - Everyone is physically and mentally able to take the trip. Reasonable accommodations are made for girls who have disabilities.
   - For trips of a day or more, at least one currently certified first- aider is present. The council office is contacted to determine the level of first-aid training needed.
   - Provisions are made for first aid.
   - For trips of three nights or more, insurance coverage is obtained for the entire trip through the council under one of the optional accident or accident and sickness plans available. For international trips, request information from your council about the comprehensive foreign travel insurance and travel assistance program provided by Mutual of Omaha.
   - Arrangements have been made for an adult contact back home for routine reporting as well as for emergencies.
   - Written itineraries, including telephone numbers and addresses, are prepared for girls, their families, the council office, and the back-home contact. On overseas trips, the written itineraries include U.S. embassy and consulate locations.
   - Everyone understands procedures for handling accidents, illnesses, and emergencies.
   - Trip leaders for specialized trips, such as canoeing or backpacking, have taken water safety and leadership training for the activity and are familiar with the Girl Scout Program Standards and activity checkpoints set forth by your council.
   - Necessary insurance forms are carried, along with all important papers.
If a Girl Scout Cadette, Senior, or Ambassador will be traveling alone during any part of a trip, use the opportunity to help her feel comfortable with and capable of being on her own. Always talk first with her parents to assess her maturity and ability to handle herself, and have them complete an emergency form. If she is flying, also discuss the possibility of booking a nonstop flight to make her trip that much less stressful, and ask parents to contact the airline, which will make special arrangements for any unaccompanied minor. With the girl herself, develop a trip plan, discuss hotel security and safety, and talk about avoiding excess communication with strangers, not wearing a nametag, and avoiding exposing money or other items (such as smartphones, iPads, and iPods) that are attractive to pickpockets.

Check with your Girl Scout council to see what forms are required for international travel (permission forms, health forms, etc.). Most councils start with a trip application, which is due as soon as you begin the planning phase. Please also fill out this online Intent to Travel form. This form helps Girl Scouts of the USA report on where Girl Scouts are traveling, and you can request an introduction to other WAGGGS members!
